

Martin Eder

Die kalte Kraft

Issued by the Kunstverein Lingen
Kunsthalle, texts by Thomas Girst,
Heiner Schepers

English/German

160 pp., 248 ills., 148 in color,

21 x 26.5 cm, hardcover

€ 32.00, $39.95, £22.95

ISBN 3-7757-1474-X

Available

Exhibition schedule: Kunstverein
Lingen Kunsthalle,
August 15–October 10, 2004

"Check out Martin Eder's sick dogs and malevolent kittens. No wonder he's so hot." (Time Magazine)

Untitled (462Megirlo8/03), 2003

Konferenz der Echos, 2004

This unprecedented publication guides the reader through the complete oeuvre of Martin Eder. Born in Augsburg in 1968, Eder studied in Leipzig and now lives and works in Berlin. His work has been the focus of considerable critical and public interest for many years. The icy gaze of his angora cats, the disconcerting lasciviousness of his nude models, the disturbing expansiveness of his room-sized installations—the many different moods evoked by Eder's visual language must be approached with caution.

Eder is neither a charlatan nor a pornographer. His works and installations revolve around the chimeras of his imagination, and he often blurs the boundaries between personal and media experience, between horror and the erotic. Nothing but kitsch? With seeming carelessness, he splatters paint, eradicates contours, leaves voids here and there—the obsessive coloring book of a moody child. And this book plays along with the artist's baffling game.